

Disability and Inclusion Resources

The DOE, in partnership with the Cerebral Palsy Foundation (CPF), created the Just Say Hi curriculum, which allows schools to facilitate discussions about inclusion and develop effective approaches to creating an inclusive school community.

Through an expanded partnership, family-facing webinars are being provided via the Beyond Access Series, which includes DOE recordings and webinars for families of students with disabilities. Note that the live sessions are delivered in English with interpretation in Spanish and Mandarin. Recordings have automatically translated captions in over 30 languages. These sessions can also be shared with all members of your school community, as they are a helpful introduction to disability awareness for staff, and serve as self-paced professional development.

Additional information on implementing the Just Say Hi program in your school community is available in this overview document. To participate in the Beyond Access Series, view these upcoming sessions and recordings.
